Subject Index

Note: Italicized page numbers indicate figures/tables.

A

abrasive advertising, 300
absolute threshold, 153
acceptance of new products. See diffusion of innovations acculturation, 397, 465
achievement, 406
achievement need, 103–104
achievement vanity, 142 achievers, 70
ACO, 413
acquired needs, 83
acquisition utility, 178
activation, 218 activities, interests, and opinions (AIOs), 53 activity, 407
actor, 321, 322
actual self-image, 139
adaptational affluent, 368
adaptive global marketing, 469–470
adopter categories, 508–509
adoption process, 511–513
adult consumer socialization, 335 advertising, 401–402. See also communication advertising appeals, 298–302
advertising effectiveness research, 289 advertising resonance, 295
advertising to children, 231
advertising wearout, 203
advertorials, 189
affect referral decision rule, 540 affiliation need, 102–103
affluent consumer, 373–380
affluent elderly, 53
African American consumer, 432–434
AFTA, 456
age, 48–50
age effect, 49–50
age subcultures, 438–446
aggression, 93
aggressive advertising, 109–110 agony commercials, 300 AHO, 413
aided recall, 225
AIO research, 53–54
Aladdin, 157
altering the self, 141–142
alternative family unit, 348–350 altruists, 474
American core values, 406–416
American Customer Satisfaction Index, 213 analogous model of classical conditioning, 201, 202 anthropology, 15
antiglobals, 469
anxiety, 120
approach object, 88
area sample, 37
arousal of motives, 94–96
ASEAN, 456
ASEAN Free Trade Area (AFTA), 456
Asian American consumer, 435–438, C-31
Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), 456 assortment structure, 190
at capacity, 73
At-home viewing of movies on DVD, C-25–C-26 attitude, 238–239. See also consumer attitude attitude change, 253–263
attitude formation, 249–252
attitude scales, 31–32, 33
attitude-toward-behavior model, 245 attitude toward charitable organizations (ACO), 413 attitude toward helping others (AHO), 413 attitude-toward-object model, 244–245
attitude-towards-the-ad model, 247–248
attitudinal measures, 227, 228, 291 attractiveness, 315
attribution theory, 264–268
attributions toward others, 267
attributions toward things, 267
audience participation, 302 audience profile, 290, 293 audit, 28
avalanche marketing, 496
avoidance object, 88

B

baby boomers, 48–49, 330, 331, 346, 441–442
bachelorhood, 344–345
Bedrock America, 68
behavior intention scale, 32, 33
behavioral learning theories, 201–215. See also classical conditioning; instrumental conditioning behavioral measures, 227
behaviorist school, 96
beliefs, 394
believers, 70
benefit segmentation, 47, 60–62
Big Five Personality Test, 144 Bits and Bytes, 52
black, 137
blogs, 498, C-35–C-36
blue, 137
bodegas, 425
book, overview, 16–17
boomtown singles, 67–68
born-again Christians, 428
bottom-line price shoppers, 540 brain activity, 28
brain wave analysis, 291
brand communities, 318–319
brand equity, 230
brand imprinting, 218
brand loyalty, 58, 226–230
brand-loyalty reward programs, 229
brand personality, 133–136
brand personality framework, 134, 134 brand personification, 133–135
brand switchers, 58
brand zealots, 134

branded entertainment, 287, C-13 broad categorizers, 187, 222 broadband Internet access, 242
broadcast media, 278 brown, 137
busters, 440
buyers, 339
buzz agents, 281
buzz marketing, 495–498
buzz potential, 495

C
CAD, 120
call centers, 184, 186
career-oriented working women, 448 CARU, 231
cases Airwalk, C-7–C-8
  Asian American consumers, C-31
  at-home viewing of movies on DVD, C-25–C-26
  cell phones, C-35
  company blogs, C-35–C-36
  consumer confusion (dental care), C-15
  consumer feedback (blogs), C-21 Costco, C-27
  customization (digitization), C-1
  direct-to-consumer advertising of prescription drugs, C-22
  food ads for children, C-16
  global cat food strategy, C-33
  Grey Goose vodka, C-13
  gum, C-29
  Hyundai Azera, C-27–C-28
  keeping up with the Joneses, C-25
  M&Ms, C-7
  need-focused definition of business, C-9–C-10
  New Product Works, C-9
  privacy-Internet, C-29–C-30
  product placement, C-13–C-14
  Product Works, C-9
  rebates (automobile industry), C-19–C-20
  satellite radio, C-37
  secondary data, C-5
  shark's fin soup-Hong Kong Disneyland, C-34
  skateboarding, C-19
  Starbucks, C-11
  targeting specific age groups, C-31–C-32
  Wal-Mart, C-5–C-6
  Whirlpool, C-11–C-12
  Whole Foods Market vs. FreshDirect.com, C-2 women purchasing nonfamily type cars, C-37–C-38
causal research, 28–29
cause-related marketing, 282–283 Cautious Mom, 52
celebrities, 321–323
celebrity advertising, 283 celebrity credibility, 322
cell phones, 482–483, C-35
central route to persuasion, 222, 293 CETSCALE, 130, 131
change leader, 518
changing beliefs, 259–263
channel purchase decisions, 527
channel surfing, 287
Chapin's social status scale, 368 childhood socialization, 333–335 childless couples, 349
children
  advertising to, 231
  collectors, as, 553
  consumer socialization, 333–335
  family decision making, 340–343 food ads, C-16
Children's Advertising Review Unit (CARU), 231
China, 370
Chinese Americans, 437, 438 chocoholics, 130
chronological age, 49–50
chunking, 218
class consciousness, 361 classical conditioning, 201–210 analogous model, 201, 202
  cognitive associative learning, 201–202
  consumer behavior, and, 210 Pavlovian model, 201, 202
  repetition, 203
  stimulus discrimination, 210
  stimulus generalization, 203–209 closed-ended questions, 30, 31
closure, 165–166
clothing, 383
cluster (area) sample, 37
co-branding, 230
COA, 458
coalition tactics, 341
COD, 458
code of ethics, 14
codified buzz, 498
cognitive ages, 443
cognitive arousal, 94
cognitive associative learning, 201–202
cognitive dissonance, 178
cognitive dissonance theory, 264
cognitive learning, 215
cognitive learning theory, 215–225
cognitive personality factors, 126–127
cognitive school, 96
cohort effects, 50
college dropout, 366
color, 135–136, 137
commercial data, 25
common-man appeal, 323–324
communication, 274–309
  barriers to, 287–288
  basis communication model, 276 credibility, 281–286
  defined, 276
  ethics, 302–305
  feedback, 288–291
  major advertising media, 294–295
  media strategy, 292–293, 294–295
  message initiator (source), 281–286
  message strategies, 293
  message structure and presentation, 295–302. See also message structure and presentation target audience, 292
  target audience (receivers), 286
communications process, 280–281 communications strategy, 291–292
company blogs, C-35–C-36
comparative advertising, 296–298
comparative reference groups, 312 compatibility, 504, 505
compensatory decision rule, 539 complaint analysis, 35–36 complexity, 504, 505
composite-variable indexes, 369 comprehension, 225, 286
compulsive consumption, 130
conation, 243
concentrated marketing, 77 conditioned learning, 201 conditioned stimuli, 201
conflicting attitudes, 259
conformity, 411–413 conjunctive decision rule, 539–540 consensual parents, 342 consideration set, 534
conspicuous consumption, 359 conspicuous product, 315 consultation tactics, 341
consumer-action groups, 319–321
consumer attitude, 236–273
  attitude change, 253–263
  attitude formation, 249–252
  attitude-towards-the-AD model, 247–248
  attribution theory, 264–268
  attributions toward others, 267
  attributions toward things, 267
  changing beliefs, 259–263
  cognitive dissonance theory, 264
  conflicting attitudes, 259
  ELM, 263
  multiattribute attitude models, 244–246 personality factors, 252
  self-perception theory, 265–267
  theory of trying-to-consume model, 246–247
  tricomponent attitude model, 241–244
consumer behavior, 3, 22
consumer conformity, 315–316
Consumer confusion (dental care), C-15
consumer decision making, 526–544 cognitive view, 528–529
  decision rules, 539–540, 541
  economic view, 528
  emotional view, 529–530
  evaluation of alternatives, 534–545

functionally illiterate consumers, 540–542
input, 531–532
levels of, 526–527
lifestyles as decision strategy, 543–544
model of, 531
need recognition, 532–533
online help, 542–543
output, 545–547
passive view, 528
postpurchase behavior, 547
prepurchase search, 533–534, 535, 536
process, 532–545
purchase behavior, 545–547
consumer decision-making model, 15–16
consumer decision rules, 539–540, 541
consumer ethnocentrism, 121, 130–133
consumer feedback, 288–291, C-21
consumer fieldwork, 403–405
consumer gifting behavior, 547–551
consumer imagery, 170–186
consumer innovativeness, 121, 123, 492
consumer innovator, 123, 514–519
consumer learning, 196–235
brand equity, 230
brand loyalty, 226–230
classical conditioning, 201–210. See also classical conditioning cues, 199
ethics, 230–232
information processing, 216–220. See also information processing instrumental conditioning, 210–215. See also instrumental conditioning involvement theory, 220–225
measures of, 225–230
modeling, 215
motivation, 199
observational learning, 215
recognition and recall measures, 225–230
reinforcement, 200
response, 199
consumer loyalty, 226–230
consumer materialism, 121, 128–129
consumer models, 215
consumer motivation, 80–113
achievement need, 103–104
affiliation need, 102–103
arousal of motives, 94–96
dynamics of motivation, 89–97
ethics, 109–110
goals, 84–88
hierarchy of needs, 97–102
measurement of motives, 105–109
motivational research, 106–109
needs, 83–84
positive/negative motivation, 88
power need, 102
psychogenic needs, 97, 98
rational/emotional motives, 88–89 consumer-oriented definitions of product innovation, 501–502 consumer panels, 26
consumer perception, 150–195
absolute threshold, 153
consumer imagery, 170–186
differential threshold, 153–155
dynamics of perception, 158–170
ethics, 189–191
manufacturers' image, 186
perceived price, 177–178
perceived quality, 178–183
perceived risk, 187–189
perceptual interpretation, 167–170
perceptual organization, 163–166
perceptual selection, 160–162
positioning of services, 174–177
price/quality relationship, 183–185
product positioning, 170–174
product repositioning, 174, 175
retail store image, 185–186
sensation, 152–153
subliminal perception, 155–158
consumer personality. See Personality and consumer behavior consumer profile, 292–293 consumer reference groups. See reference groups
consumer research, 20–41
attitude scales, 31–32, 33
conducting research study, 37–38
consumer ethnocentrism, 130–133
customer satisfaction measurement, 35–36
data analysis, 37
depth interview, 32
designing primary research, 26–37
ethics, 38
experimentation, 28–29
focus group, 32, 34
metaphor analysis, 34–35
observational research, 27–28
paradigms, 22, 23
protective techniques, 34
questionnaire, 30–31
reports, 37
research objectives, 23–24
sampling, 36–37
secondary data, 24–26
steps in process, 23, 24
survey, 29–30
consumer research paradigms, 22, 23
consumer research process, 23, 24
consumer socialization, 333–335
consumer variety seeking, 125–126 consuming entities, 4 consumption process, 552
content analysis, 403
content of promotional messages, 303–305
continuous innovation, 501, 502
continuous reinforcement schedule, 214 contrast, 288
controlled experiment, 28 convenience sample, 37
COO, 458
cookies, C-29–C-30
COP, 458
copy pretests/posttests, 291 copy testing, 225
core values, 406
corporate-sponsored special events, 283 corrective advertising, 304 cosmetic variations, 203 counterfeiting, 209
countersegmentation, 77
country of assembly (COA), 458 country of design (COD), 458
country-of-origin effects, 132, 458
country-of-origin stereotypes, 179 country of parts (COP), 458 country-specific cohort defining moments, 50
covetous loyalty, 229
cpm, 25
creatives, 474
credibility, 178, 281–286, 296, 314–315, 483–484
credit, 386
credit card, 386
cross-cultural consumer analysis, 459–466 cross-cultural consumer behavior, 454–479
acculturation, 465
adaptive global marketing, 469–470
country-of-origin effects, 458
global middle class, 462–464
global teenage market, 464
global vs. local strategy, 466–473
national identity, 458–459
psychographic segmentation, 473–475
research, 465–466
similarities/differences among people, 459–462
world brand, 467–469
cross-cultural consumer research, 465–466
cross-cultural/global marketing segmentation, 56–57
cross-cultural psychographic segmentation, 473–475 crowded nesters, 350
cues, 199
cultural learning, 397
cultural segmentation, 56 culture, 392–419. See also subculture
achievement, 406
activity, 407
American core values, 406–416
consumer fieldwork, 403–405
content analysis, 403
defined, 394
dynamic nature of, 402
efficiency, 407–409
external conformity, 411–413
fitness and health, 414–415
freedom, 411
humanitarianism, 413–414
individualism, 410–411
language and symbols, 398–400
learning, 396–400

culture Continued levels of subjective, 395
material comfort, 409
needs, and, 395–396
practicality, 407–408
progress, 409
ritual, 400, 401
shared nature of, 401–402
shopping, 416–417
success, 407
youthfulness, 414
customer complaints, 35–36
customer defections, 36 customer lifetime value profiles, 24–25 customer loyalty rates, 36 customer profitability-focused marketing, 10 customer pyramid, 10
customer retention, 10
customer satisfaction, 9, 213
customer satisfaction measurement, 35–36
customer satisfaction surveys, 35 customer value, 8–9
Customization (digitization), C-1
customs, 394
cyberseniors, 444

D
dark side of consumer behavior, 22 data collection methods, 30–35 database marketers, 278 day-after recall tests, 291 daydreaming, 93
deal hunters, 540
decay, 213
deceptive advertising, 303 deciders, 339
decision, 526
decision making. See consumer decision making
decision rules, 539–540, 541
decision strategies, 539
decoding, 286
defense mechanisms, 92, 93 defensive attribution, 266 demographic characteristics, 48 demographic profile, 64 demographic-psychographic profiling, 62 demographic segmentation, 46, 48–53
age, 48–50
education, 53
income, 52–53
marital status, 52
occupation, 53
sex, 50–52
dependent variable, 29
depth interview, 32, 404
desires, 88
determined detractors, 282 devoted consumers, 75
devouts, 474
diaries, 290
differential decay, 285
differential threshold, 153–155
differentiated marketing, 77 diffusion of innovations, 409–519
adopter categories, 508–509
adoption process, 511–513
channels of communication, 505–506
consumer innovator, 514–519
diffusion process, 500–510
innovation, 500–502
product characteristics, 503–504, 505
rate of adoption, 509–510 resistance to innovation, 505
social system, 506
technology and innovators, 518–519
time, 507–508
diffusion process, 500–510
digital technologies, 11–13 direct experience, 251
direct mail, 278, 295
direct marketing, 251, 278, 295
Direct-to-consumer advertising of prescription drugs, C-22
direct-to-consumer pharmaceutical advertising, 110 disassociation, 285
discontinuous innovation, 501 discussion guide (focus group), 34
disempowerment, 386
disguised questionnaire, 30
disjunctive rule, 540
disposers, 339
dissolution of basic family unit, 348 dissonance, 264
dissonance reduction, 178
distributed learning, 215
divorced persons, 349
DMM, 263
do age, 443
dogmatism, 123–124
door-in-the-face technique, 266–267 double branding, 230
down to earth consumers, 73–74
downscale consumers, 382 downward mobility, 372
Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman, 318 drawing pictures, 108 driven consumers, 72
dual-income families, 350 dual mediation model (DMM), 263
dynamically continuous innovation, 501

E
early adopters, 508
early adulthood, 443
early majority, 508
echo boomers, 439
economics, 15
education, 53, 365–366, 367
educational institutions, 401
efficiency, 407–409
efficiency pricing, 177
ego, 117
ego-defensive function, 253
egoistic needs, 99
elaboration likelihood model (ELM), 223, 263, 293 elderly consumers, 443–446 electronic media, 278
electronic shopping, 295
ELM, 223, 263, 293
emotional appeals, 298
emotional arousal, 94
emotional motives, 88
employee spokesperson, 325 empowerment, 386
encoding, 217–218
enculturation, 397
end users, 4
endorsement, 321, 322
endorser credibility, 283, 322 environmental (situational) arousal, 94, 96
episodic storage, 218
ethics, 14
advertising to children, 231
consumer learning, 230–232
consumer motivation, 109–110
consumer perception, 189–191
consumer research, 38
content of promotional messages, 303–305
marketing communication, 302–305
precision targeting, 302–303
ethnicity. See subculture ethnocentrism, 130–133
European Union (EU), 456
evaluation of alternatives, 534–545
evoked set, 228, 534–537
eWOM, 282
exchange tactics, 341 executive spokespersons, 325 expanded FLC models, 348–350 expectations, 160
expected self, 139
experience, 314
experiencers, 70
experimentation, 28–29
experts, 323
exploratory purchase behavior, 125 expressive consumers, 72 extended family, 328
extended self, 141
extensive problem solving, 526 external attribution, 266
external conformity, 411–413
external reference price, 177 external secondary data, 25 extinction, 213
extrinsic cues, 179
eye movements, 28
eye tracking, 291

F
Faber and O'Guinn compulsive buying scale, 130
facial EMG, 291
factual appeals, 298

fads, 186
fairness, 178
family, 326
family branding, 205–207
family consumption roles, 339 family decision-making process, 339–343 family influences, 326–350 changing U.S. family, 329–332 decision making, 339–343
  economic well-being, 337 emotional support, 337
  family life cycle, 343–350. See also family life cycle (FLC) socialization of family members, 332–336
  suitable family lifestyles, 337–338 typical families, 326–328 family life cycle (FLC), 343–350
  bachelorhood, 344–345
  dissolution, 348
  honeymooners, 345–346
  marketing, 348
  nontraditional FLC, 348–350
  parenthood, 346
  postparenthood, 346–347
family life-cycle segmentation, 55–56 fashion, 383
FDA, 304
fear appeals, 212, 299
Federal Trade Commission (FTC), 303–304
feedback, 279, 288–291
feedback (blogs), C-21
feel age, 443
feminine traits, 446
field observation, 404
figure and ground, 163
figure-and-ground reversal, 165 Filipino Americans, 438 financial risk, 187
firm-oriented definitions of product innovation, 501 first impressions, 168
fitness and health, 414–415
fixated consumption behavior, 129–130
fixed ratio reinforcement schedule, 214 FLC, 343–350. See also family life cycle (FLC) floater ads, 288
focus group, 32, 34, 404
focused marketing, 11
Food ads for children, C-16
Food and Drug Administration (FDA), 304 foot-in-the-door technique, 266 foreign-made products, 130–133
forgetting, 213
formal communications source, 277 formal learning, 397 formal work group, 317
four Ps, 7
freedom, 411
freedom of choice, 411
frequent player cards, 27
Freudian stages of childhood development, 117–118 Freudian theory, 106–107, 117–120
friendship groups, 316
frustration, 91–92
FTC, 303–304
fun seekers, 474
functional approach, 253
functional risk, 187
functionally illiterate consumers, 540–542

G

gambling casinos, 27–28, 214 gatekeepers, 339
geek, 383, 384
Gen-Xers, 51, 330, 331, 346, 440–441
Gen Y, 439
gender, 135
gender differences, 50–52
gender issues, 446–448
gender swapping, 318
generalized consumer innovators, 517
generation X, 51, 330, 331, 346, 440–441
generation Y, 439
generic goals, 84
geodemographic clustering, 373, 374, 375
geodemographic segmentation, 64–66 geographic brand names, 136
geographic segmentation, 46, 47–48
geographical and regional cultures, 431–432
geography, 135
GeoVALS, 70
gifting anxiety, 549
gifting behavior, 547–551
global agnostics, 469
global brand, 467–469
global cat food strategy, C-33
global citizens, 467
global consumer market segments, 474 global dreamers, 467, 469 global marketing segmentation, 56–57
global middle class, 462–464
global perspective. See cross-cultural consumer behavior
global teenage market, 464
goal setting/goal pursuit, 529
goals, 84–88, 90
gold, 137
grazing, 287
green, 137
group, 312. See also reference groups grouping, 163–165
gum, C-29
guo qing, 465

H

halo effect, 169–170
hard sell approach, 5 healthy living, 414
hedonic products, 223
hemispheral lateralization, 220
heuristics, 529, 539
hierarchy of needs, 97–102
high-animosity consumers, 458 high-involvement purchases, 220–222 high-tech innovations, 518
HiHighs, 57, 57
HiLows, 57, 57
Hispanic American subculture, 423–427, 428, 429, 430, 434
home shopping networks, 278
honeymooners, 345–346
Horatio Alger rags-to-riches story, 372 household spending patterns, 332 households, 327. See also family influences houses of worship, 401
humanitarianism, 413–414
humorous appeals, 299–300, 301
husband-dominated decisions, 340 husband-wife decision making, 340 hybrid segmentation approaches, 62–75
  geodemographic segmentation, 64–66
  psychographic, lifestyle, demographic profiles, 62–64
  VALS, 66–71
  Yankelovich Mindbase segmentation, 71–75

I

id, 117
ideal self-image, 139, 186 ideal social self-image, 139 ideals, 84
identification, 93
illiterate consumers, 540–542 IM, 496, 497
imagery, 216
impersonal communications, 281 impersonal medium, 278
income, 52–53, 367–368
income inequality, 372
incongruent elements, 219 independent variable, 28 index of status characteristics (ISC), 369 indirect experience, 251 indirect reference groups, 313 individual receivers, 278
individualism, 410–411
inept set, 534
inert set, 534
inertia loyalty, 229
influencers, 339
infomercials, 189
informal friendship-work groups, 317 informal groups, 316 informal learning, 397
informal source, 277
information, 314
information overload, 218, 529 information processing, 216–220
  encoding, 217–218
  limited/extensive, 219–220
  long-term store, 217

information processing Continued
rehearsal, 217
retention, 218
retrieval, 219
sensory store, 216
short-term store, 216–217
information-processing strategies, 539 ingratiating tactics, 341 innate needs, 83
inner-directedness, 124
innovation overload, 505
innovations. See diffusion of innovations innovativeness, 492
innovators, 70, 508
inspirational appeals, 341 instant messaging (IM), 496, 497 institutional advertising, 282 instrumental conditioning, 210–215
customer satisfaction, 213
distributed learning, 215
extinction, 213
forgetting, 213
massed learning, 215
reinforcement of behavior, 212–213
relationship marketing, 214
integrated processors, 222 intelligent agents, 12 intention-to-buy scales, 244, 244
interactive communication, 278 intercategory gifting, 548, 551 interest age, 443
interference effects, 219 intergenerational brand transfer, 335 intergenerational socialization, 335 intergroup gifting, 548 intermediary audiences, 278 internal attribution, 265 internal reference prices, 177 internal secondary data, 24–25 international perspective. See cross-cultural consumer behavior Internet-privacy, C-29–C-30 Internet advertising, 293, 294
Internet communities, 317 Internet usage, 482, 483
Internet users, 52
interpersonal communications feedback, 289 interpersonal flow of information, 493–495
interpersonal gifting, 548, 549–550 interpersonal medium, 278 interpretivism, 22 intimates, 474
intragroup gift, 548, 551
intrapersonal gifting, 550–551 intrinsic cues, 178
involvement, 286–287
involvement theory, 220–225, 293
ISC, 369

J
j.n.d., 153–155
Japanese Americans, 438 Jewish dietary laws, 428–430 judgment sample, 37
jumping to conclusions, 168–169 just-a-job working women, 447
just noticeable difference (j.n.d.), 153–155

K
Keeping up with the Joneses, C-25
key informant method, 488–489 knowledge exchanges, 318 knowledge function, 254–255 Korean Americans, 438
kosher certification, 429–430

L
laggards, 508
late majority, 508
later adulthood, 443
Latino (Hispanic) subculture, 423–427, 428, 430, 434
leading-edge baby boomer cohort, 51 leading questions, 31 learning, 199. See also consumer learning leisure, 385–386
levels of aspiration, 90
lexicographic decision rule, 540
Lexis-Nexis, 25
licensing, 207–209
life coach, 409
lifestyle profiles, 65, 370, 371
lifestyle segmentation, 46, 53–54
lifestyles as decision strategy, 543–544
Likert scale, 31, 33
limited problem solving, 526–527 linguistic characteristics, 218
Lion King, The, 157
Little Mermaid, The, 157
LoLows, 57, 57
long-term store, 217
look age, 443
LOV scale, 405–406
low-animosity consumers, 458
low-involvement purchases, 220–222 lower-lower class, 371 lower-middle class, 371 lower social classes, 382 lower-upper class, 371 LowHighs, 57, 57
loyalty programs, 229, 554 luxury product, 381–382

M
magazine advertising, 294
mail surveys, 29, 30
maintainers, 339
makers, 70
mall intercepts, 29
manufacturers' image, 186
marital status, 52
market maven, 342, 491, 492
market-oriented definitions of product innovation, 501 market segmentation, 42–79 bases for segmentation, 45–75
benefit segmentation, 47, 60–62
countersegmentation, 77
defined, 44
demographic segmentation, 46, 48–53
effective targeting, 75–76
geographic segmentation, 46, 47–48
how it works, 45
hybrid segmentation approaches, 62–75. See also Hybrid segmentation approaches implementing segmentation strategies, 76–77
psychographic segmentation, 46, 53–54
psychological segmentation, 46, 53
sociocultural segmentation, 46–47, 54–57
usage-situation segmentation, 47, 60
use-related segmentation, 47, 57–60
users, 44–45
market targeting, 7
market test, 29
marketing communication. See communication marketing concept, 4–7, 11 marketing ethics, 14. See also ethics marketing mix, 7
marketing myopia, 5
married couple, 327
masculine traits, 446
Maslow's hierarchy of needs, 97–102 mass affluent households, 375, 376 mass communications feedback, 289 mass marketing, 44
mass media, 251, 278, 401
massed learning, 215
massification of luxury, 381 Master Producer, 52
material comfort, 409
materialism, 128–129 McDonald's-made-me-fat lawsuits, 232 measure twice, 74–75
measurement of motives, 105–109
mechanical observation, 27–28
media strategy, 292–293, 294–295
medium, 278
megabrands, 230
membership group, 312
memory stores, 216–217
message, 278–279
message attention and interpretation measures, 291 message credibility, 285 message exposure measures, 290
message framing, 295–296
message initiator (source), 281–286
message recall measures, 291
message strategies, 293
message structure and presentation, 295–302
abrasive advertising, 300
advertising appeals, 298–302

audience participation, 302
comparative advertising, 296–298
message framing, 295–296
one-sided vs. two-sided messages, 296 order effects, 298
repetition, 298
resonance, 295
sex in advertising, 300–302
metaphor, 35
metaphor analysis, 34–35, 108
micromarketing, 48, 251 middle adulthood, 443
middle-class consumers, 381–382
millennium generation, 439 millionaires, 376
modeling, 215
monadic giving, 550
monetary rewards, 103
mood, 287, 530
motivation, 83, 199. See also Consumer motivation motivation process, 83
motivational research, 22, 106–109
motives, 161–162
movers & shakers, 67
Movie theater box office receipts, C-26
multiattribute attitude models, 244–246
multinational perspective. See cross-cultural consumer behavior multiple selves, 138
multistep flow of communication theory, 493–494 Murray's list of psychogenic needs, 98
mystery shoppers, 35

N
N Generation cohort, 51
NAFTA, 456
NARC, 304
narrow categorizers, 187, 222 narrowcasting, 12, 302
National Advertising Review Council (NARC), 304
national identity, 458–459
nationality subcultures, 423–427 NC, 126
near luxuries, 381–382
need-focused definition of business, C-9–C-10
need for cognition (NC), 126 need for humor (NFH), 300
need for uniqueness (NFU), 124, 125
need hierarchy, 97–102
need recognition, 532–533
needs, 83–84
negative disconfirmation of expectations, 547 negative drives, 88
negative message framing, 295–296 negative reinforcement, 212 negative word-of-mouth, 494–495
neo-Freudian personality theory, 120
neo-Pavlovian conditioning, 202
New Age Crusader, 52
new-age elderly, 445
new empty nests, 67
new learning, 219
new products. See diffusion of innovations newspaper advertising, 294 newsstand magazine buyers, 62
NFH, 300
NFU, 124, 125
niche marketing, 251
no loyalty, 229
nonaffluent consumers, 382
noncompensatory decision rule, 539 nonconformity appeal, 316 nonprobability sample, 36, 37
nontraditional FLC, 348–350
nonverbal message, 278 normative reference groups, 312
North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), 456 not-for-profit advertising, 277 not-for-profit sources, 282 novelty seeking, 125
nuclear family, 327

O
object degree of globalization, 132 objective knowledge, 225 objective measures of social-class membership, 363–369 objective method of determining opinion leadership, 489 observabilty, 504, 505
observational learning, 215
observational research, 27–28
occupation, 53, 363–365, 366
old learning, 219
older consumer, 443–446
one-price approach, C-20
one-sided (supportive) message, 296
one-to-one marketing, 10 online surveys, 29, 30 open-ended questions, 30, 31
operant conditioning. See instrumental conditioning opinion leaders, 281, 482, 485–486, 487, 490 opinion leadership, 482–499
buzz marketing, 495–498
credibility, 483–484
defined, 482
importance, 483
information and advice, 484
interpersonal flow of information, 493–495
market maven, 491, 492
measurement of, 488–489
negative word-of-mouth, 494–495
opinion leaders, 485–486, 487, 490
opinion receivers, 486
positive-negative product information, 484 purchase pals, 486–487
situational environment, 493 stimulating/simulating word-of-mouth, 494 surrogate buyers, 487, 487
viral marketing, 496–498
weblogs, 498
opinion leadership overlap, 491
opinion receivers, 482, 486
opinion seekers, 482
OPM, 299
opportunistic switchers, 540 optimum stimulation level (OSL), 124–125
orange, 137
order effects, 298
ordered protection motivation (OPM), 299 organizational consumer, 4 OSL, 124–125
other-directedness, 124
ought-to self, 139
oughts, 84
overall store price image, 185
overview of book, 16–17
oya yubi sedai, 483

P
Pacific Islanders, 435–438
parenthood, 346
participant-observer research, 404 pass-along e-mail, 498, 499 passive learning, 220
Pavlovian model of classical conditioning, 201, 202 payment purchase decisions, 527 penetration policy, 510 people meters, 25, 290
perceived price, 177–178
perceived quality, 178–183
perceived risk, 187–189, 515–516
perceived value, 9 perception, 152. See also Consumer perception perception/experience/memory model of advertising, 292 perceptual blocking, 162 perceptual defense, 162
perceptual distortion, 167–170
perceptual interpretation, 167–170
perceptual mapping, 174, 176
perceptual organization, 163–166
perceptual selection, 160–162
peripheral route to persuasion, 222, 293 personal coach, 409 personal consumer, 4 personal interview surveys, 29 personal shade, 138 personal style, 385
personal vanity, 142
personality, 116–117
personality and consumer behavior, 114–149
brand personality, 133–136
cognitive personality factors, 126–1
compulsive consumption, 130
consumer innovativeness, 123

personality and consumer behavior Continued
consumer materialism, 128–129
dogmatism, 123–124
fixated consumption behavior, 129–130
Freudian theory, 117–120
need for uniqueness (NFU), 124, 125
neo-Freudian personality theory, 120
optimum stimulation level (OSL), 124–125
self/self-image, 137–142
sensation seeking (SS), 125
social character, 124
trait theory, 120–122
variety-novelty seeking, 125–126
virtual personality or self, 143–144 visualizers/verbalizers, 127 persuasion effects, 289 pester power, 342
pharmaceutical advertising, 110
Pharmaceutical industry, direct-to-consumer ads, C-22
photo sorts, 108
physical appearances, 167 physical risk, 187
physical vanity, 142 physiological arousal, 94, 95
physiological needs, 97 physiological observation, 28 pictorial cues, 222
pink-ribbon products, 282 pioneer brand image, 186 planned obsolescence, 81 platinum, 137
Playful Pretender, 52
pluralistic parents, 342 pop-ups, 288
portable people meters, 25, 290 positioning, 7, 44, 102, 170–171, 210
positioning of services, 174–177
positive disconfirmation of expectations, 547 positive drives, 88 positive message framing, 295–296 positive reinforcement, 212 positivism, 22
possessions, 553
postparenthood, 346–347
postpurchase behavior, 547
postpurchase cognitive dissonance, 547 postpurchase dissonance, 264 posttesting, 225
power groups, 315
power need, 102
practical loyalists, 540 Practical Pete, 52
practicality, 407–408
pragmatic buyer, 293 pre-boomers, 330, 331
precision targeting, 302–303
predicted service, 181 premium loyalty, 229
preparers, 339
prepurchase search, 533–534, 535, 536
pressure tactics, 341
pretesting, 225
price
automobile industry, C-19–C-20 perception, 177–178 quality, and, 183–185
store image, 185
price/quality relationship, 183–185
primary data, 24
primary needs, 83
print media, 278
Prism CE, 65
privacy-Internet, C-29–C-30
PRIZM, 65
PRIZM NE, 47, 67–68, 373, 374, 375
probability sample, 36, 37 product category extensions, 204, 208 product concept, 5
product differentiation, 210 product-form extensions, 204, 207 product innovations. See diffusion of innovations product involvement inventory, 224 product line extension, 203–204, 206 product orientation, 5 product-oriented definitions of product innovation, 501 product personality, 133–136
product placement, 287, C-13–C-14
product positioning, 170–174
product repositioning, 174, 175
product-specific goal, 84 product standardization, 472, 473 production concept, 4–5 professional advertising, 278
progress, 409
projection, 93
ProQuest, 25
protective parents, 342 protective techniques, 34
psychoanalytic theory of personality, 117–120
psychogenic needs, 97, 98
psychographic inventory, 53 psychographic-lifestyle profiles, 62 psychological characteristics, 53 psychological noise, 288 psychological risk, 187
psychological segmentation, 46, 53
psychology, 15
publicity, 281
puffery, 303
punctuality, 409
purchase behavior, 545–547
purchase pals, 316, 486–487
purchase time, 507–508

Q

qualitative research, 22, 23
qualitative research designs/data collection methods, 32–35 quality, 178–185
quantitative research, 22, 23 quantitative research data collection instruments, 30–32 quantitative research designs, 26–30
questionnaire, 30–31
quota sample, 37

R

race and ethnicity. See subculture racial subcultures, 432–438 radio advertising, 294 rags-to-riches story, 372 rank-order scales, 32, 33
rate of usage, 57
rational motives, 88 rational persuasion, 341 rationalization, 93
rebates (automobile industry), C-19–C-20
recall tests, 225 receiver, 278
receivers, 286
recognition and recall measures, 225–230
recognition tests, 225
red, 137
redundancy, 288
reference groups, 310–326
brand communities, 318–319
celebrities, 321–323
common-man appeal, 323–324
consumer-action groups, 319–321
consumer conformity, 315–316
defined, 312
executive/employee spokesperson, 325
experts, 323
factors to consider, 313–316
friendship groups, 316
shopping groups, 316–317
trade or spokes-characters, 325, 329
virtual communities, 317–319
work groups, 317
reference prices, 177–178
referral program, 316 region-specific cohort defining moments, 50 regional trade agreements, 456 regression, 93
rehearsal, 217
reinforcement, 200
reinforcement of behavior, 212–213
reinforcement schedules, 214
relationship marketing, 214, 554–557
relationship pricing, 177
relative advantage, 503–504, 505
reliability, 30 religious institutions, 401
repetition, 203, 288, 298
repositioning, 6, 174, 175
repression, 93
reputation, 282
reputational measures of social-class membership, 363 research. See Consumer research

research objectives, 23–24
resonance, 295
response, 199
retail store image, 185–186
retention, 218
retention-focused marketing, 11
retrieval, 219
review of TV program (blog), C-21 right-brain processing theory, 220–222 righteous buyer, 293
risk, 187–189
ritual, 400, 401
roadblocking, 287 rock steady consumers, 73
Rokeach Value Survey, 404–408 role, 138
routinized response behavior, 527 rugged individualism, 410, 411

S
safety needs, 98–99
sales effects, 289 sales saddle, 510, 511
sample, 36
sampling, 36–37
sampling plan, 36
satellite radio, C-37
satisfaction-based pricing, 177
saving, 386
schema, 218
screener questionnaire, 34 seal of approval, 326
secondary data, 24–26, C-5
secondary needs, 83
segmentation, 42–79. See also Market segmentation selective binding, 295
selective exposure, 162 selective exposure to messages, 287–288 selective perception, 162 self-actualization, 99–100
self-altering products, 142 self-designating method, 488, 489 self-employment, 364
self-gift, 548, 550–551
self-perception theory, 265–267
self-report technique, 291
self/self-image, 137–142
  altering the self, 141–142
  extended self, 141
  makeup of self-image, 139–141
  multiple selves, 138
selling concept, 5
semantic differential scale, 32, 33
semantic storage, 218
sender, 277
seniors, 443–446
sensation, 152–153
sensation seeking (SS), 125
Sensitive Sam, 52
sensory adaptation, 153 sensory receptors, 152
sensory store, 216
sentence completion, 108 service quality, 179–183 service recovery, 214
SERVQUAL, 181, 183
SES, 369
sex, 50–52
sex as subculture, 446–448
sex in advertising, 300–302
sex role, 447
shaping, 214
shark's fin soup-Hong Kong Disneyland, C-34
shop to you drop mentality, 417
shopping, 383–385, 416–417
shopping groups, 316–317
short-term store, 216–217
silver, 137
simple random sample, 37 single-parent family, 328 single parents, 349
single-trait personality tests, 120 single-variable indexes, 363–369 situational cue, 94
skateboarding, C-19
skimming policy, 510
Skinner box, 212
slackers, 440
sleeper effect, 285
slice-of-life commercials, 324 snack foods, 119
social buyer, 293
social character, 124
social class, 56, 356–391
  affluent consumer, 373–380
  categories, 360–361
  clothing, 383
  communication, 386–388
  credit, 386
  defined, 358
  education, 365–366, 367
  fashion, 383
  geek, 383, 384
  geodemographic clustering, 373, 374, 375
  hierarchical aspect, 359
  income, 367–368
  leisure, 385–386
  lifestyle profiles, 370, 371
  middle-class consumers, 381–382
  objective measures, 363–369
  occupation, 363–365, 366
  reputational measures, 363
  saving, 386
  shopping, 383–385
  social-class mobility, 370–372
  social status, 358
  spending, 386
  status consumption, 358–359
  subjective measures, 361–363
  techno-class, 382–383
  working-class consumers, 382
social-class categories, 360–361
social-class mobility, 370–372
social-class profiles, 370, 371 social comparison theory, 358 social hub, 491
social institutions, 401
social needs, 99
social psychology, 15
social responsibility, 14, 282. See also ethics social risk, 187
Social Sally, 52
social self-image, 139
social status, 358
social system, 506
socialization of family members, 332–336
societal marketing concept, 14 sociocultural environment, 532
sociocultural segmentation, 46–47, 54–57
  cross-cultural/global marketing segmentation, 56–57
  culture, 56
  family life cycle, 55–56
  social class, 56
  subculture, 56
sociocultural variables, 54 socioeconomic audience profiles, 363, 364 socioeconomic status score (SES), 369 sociology, 15
sociometric method, 488, 489
sophisticated consumers, 74 sound symbolism, 218
soup and soup-lovers' traits, 122
source, 281–286
source credibility, 281–286, 282 Spanish language, 429
spending, 386
split-brain theory, 220–222 split-half reliability, 30 spokes-character, 325, 329 spokesperson, 283–285, 321–325, 322 sports personalities, 322
SRI VALS, 47, 66–71
SS, 125
standardized products, 412 Starch Readership Survey, 291 status consumption, 358–359
stealth parentage, 186
stereotype, 167–168
stimulus, 152
stimulus discrimination, 210, 211
stimulus generalization, 203–209, C-15 stimulus-response theory, 96, 201
store image, 185–186
store price image, 185 storytelling, 108 stratified random sample, 37
strivers, 70, 474
structural models of attitudes, 239–248 style of life, 120
subcultural interaction, 448
subculture, 56, 420–453. See also culture
  African American consumer, 432–434
  age subcultures, 438–446
  Asian American consumer, 435–438

subculture Continued
baby boomers, 441–442
generation X, 440–441
generation Y, 439
geographical and regional cultures, 431–432
Hispanic subculture, 423–427, 428, 429, 430, 434 nationality, 423–427
older consumer, 443–446
racial subculturs, 432–438 religious subcultures, 427–431
sex as subculture, 446–448
subjective knowledge, 223 subjective measures of social-class membership, 361–363 subliminal perception, 155–158
Subliminal Seduction, 190 substantive variations, 203 substitute goal, 90
success, 407
Super Bowl ads, 304–305
Super Size Me, 282
superego, 117
supraliminal perception, 156 surrogate buyers, 487, 487
survey, 29–30
survivors, 70
symbol, 398–400
symbolic group, 312 systematic random sample, 37

T
TAM, 519
target audience (receivers), 286, 292
targeting specific age groups, C-31–C-32
teasers, 288
technical learning, 397
techno-class, 382–383
techno-road-warriors, 53, 54
technological fear, 504 technologically underclassed, 382 technology acceptance model (TAM), 519
technology and innovators, 518–519
technophiles, 519
techthusiasts, 519
teen Internet maven, 342 telephone surveys, 29–30
telepresence, 251
television advertising, 294 test marketing, 29
testimonial, 321, 322
theater tests, 291
thematic apperception test, 108 theory-of-reasoned-action model, 246
theory of trying-to-consume model, 246–247
thinkers, 70
third-party cookies, C-30
three-hit theory, 203
thumb generation, 483
time risk, 187
trade spokes-characters, 325, 329
traditional family life cycle, 344–348 traditional marketing concept, 11 traditional/stereotypical elderly, 445 trailing-edge baby boomer cohort, 51
trait, 120
trait theory, 120–122
transaction utility, 178 trialability, 504, 505
tricomponent attitude model, 241–244
trivia quizzes, 288
truth-in-sentencing laws, 303
tsunami (Southeast Asia), 283 TV advertising, 294
tweens, 439, 440
twixters, 439
two-sided (refutational) message, 296, 297
two-step flow of communication theory, 493

U umbrella brand, 207 umbrella positioning, 171 unaided recall, 225
uncodified buzz, 498
unconditioned stimulus, 201 unintended receivers, 278 unmarried couples, 349
unowned position, 172–173 up-and-comers PRIZM NE cluster, 375 upper deck consumers segments, 380 upper-lower class, 371 upper-middle class, 371 upper-upper class, 371 upward appeal, 341
upward mobility, 370, 372
U.S. VALS system, 66–71
usage-situation segmentation, 47, 60
use innovativeness, 125, 502
use-related segmentation, 47, 57–60
users, 339
utilitarian function, 253

V
Valence, D'Astous, and Fortier compulsive buying scale, 130 validity, 30
VALS, 66–71
value-expressive function, 253–254 value proposition, 9
values, 394, 406
vanity scale, 142
variable ratio reinforcement schedule, 214 variety-novelty seeking, 125–126 variety-seeking consumers, 515 venturesomeness, 516 verbal cues, 222
verbal message, 278
verbalizers, 127
vicarious exploration, 125
vicarious learning, 215
Vietnamese Americans, 438
Viking Gamer, 52
viral marketing, 496–498
viral maven, 498
virtual communities, 317–319
virtual personality, 143–144 virtual self, 143–144
visualizers, 127
voluntary simplicity, 543

W wants, 88
Warner's index of status characteristics (ISC), 369 web advertising, 293, 294
web site usability tests, 291 Weber's law, 153
webisodes, 13
weblogs, 498, C-21
white, 137
widowed persons, 349
wife-dominated decisions, 340 wildfire marketing, 496 withdrawal, 93
WOM campaigns, 281
Women purchasing nonfamily type cars, C-37–C-38
word association, 108
word-of-mouth communications, 277, 281. See also opinion leadership
work groups, 317
working-class consumers, 382
working memory, 216
working woman, 447–448
world brand, 467–469
World Citizen, 52

X
Xers, 440–441

Y
Yankelovich Mindbase, 71
Yankelovich Mindbase segmentation, 71–75
yellow, 137
youthfulness, 414
yuppie, 53

Z
Zaltman metaphor elicitation technique (ZMET), 35